QUALITY

The High Cost of Losing a Customer

In the average business, for every customer who bothers to complain, there are 26 other who will remain silent.

The average "wronged" customer will tell 8 to 16 other people. (10 percent will tell more than 20)

91 percent of unhappy customers will never purchase goods or services from you again.

If you make an effort to remedy a customer's complaints, 82 to 95 percent will stay with you.

It costs about five times as much to attract a new customer as it does to keep an old one.
